

To Whom it may concern:

Our company imports fruits and vegetables from all over the world and supplies them to supermarkets in Thailand. We are known for providing the highest quality and the freshest fruit in our country and we are doing our best to keep it this way.

Ethylene and Airborne Pathogen control was one of our major concerns. We therefore installed a Bio Turbo 1000 in each of our cold rooms. 3 units in total. We have noticed a significant improvement on the lifespan and the quality of the stored fruits. Specifically the apples stay firm for much longer time, the grapes do not soften that fast and there is less shatter (their berries do not fall from the stem).

Overall there is less fruit smell in our cold rooms. We have also observed that mold and airborne bacteria contaminations have been minimized since we started using the Bio Turbo.

We consider the Bio Turbo as a very valuable addition to our operations and we have no doubt on recommending it for any fruit and vegetable business that is looking to improve the storage conditions in their cold rooms.

Sincerely,
